Ethical Know How Action Wisdom And Cognition Writing Science:

Ethical Know-How Francisco J. Varela, 1999 How can science be brought to connect with experience This book addresses two of the most challenging problems facing contemporary neurobiology and cognitive science understanding how we unconsciously execute habitual actions as a result of neurological and cognitive processes and creating an ethic adequate to our present awareness that there is no such thing as a transcendental self a stable subject or a soul Seeking Convergence in Policy and Practice Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives, 2004 Chaos, Complexity, Curriculum and Culture William E. Doll, M. Jayne Fleener, John St. Julien, 2005 Although the fields of chaos and complexity are important in a number of disciplines they have not yet been influential in education This book remedies this dilemma by gathering essays by authors from around the world who have studied and applied chaos and complexity theories to their teaching Rich in its material recursive in its interweaving of themes conversational in its relationships and rigorous in its analysis the book is essential reading for undergraduates graduate students and professionals who deal with these important topics Bootstrapping Thierry Bardini, 2000 This tells the story of Douglas Engelbart's revolutionary vision reaching beyond conventional histories of Silicon Valley to probe the ideology that shaped some of the basic ingredients of contemporary life Avatar Bodies Ann Studying Those Who Study Us Diana Forsythe, 2001 Diana E Forsythe was a leading anthropologist of Weinstone, 2004 science technology and work who pioneered the field of the anthropology of artificial intelligence This volume collects her best known essays along with other major works that remained unpublished upon her death in 1997 It is also an exemplar of From Energy to Information Bruce Clarke, Linda Dalrymple Henderson, 2002 how reflexive ethnography should be done This book offers an innovative examination of the interactions of science and technology art and literature in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Scholars in the history of art literature architecture computer science and media studies focus on five historical themes in the transition from energy to information thermodynamics electromagnetism inscription information theory and virtuality Different disciplines are grouped around specific moments in the history of science and technology in order to sample the modes of representation invented or adapted by each field in response to newly developed scientific concepts and models By placing literary fictions and the plastic arts in relation to the transition from the era of energy to the information age this collection of essays discovers unexpected resonances among concepts and materials not previously brought into juxtaposition In particular it demonstrates the crucial centrality of the theme of energy in modernist discourse Overall the volume develops the scientific and technological side of the shift from modernism to postmodernism in terms of the conceptual crossover from energy to information The contributors are Christoph Asendorf Ian F A Bell Robert Brain Bruce Clarke Charlotte Douglas N Katherine Hayes Linda Dalrymple Henderson Bruce J Hunt Douglas Kahn Timothy Lenoir W J T Mitchell Marcos Novak Edward Shanken Richard Shiff David Tomas Sha Xin Wei and Norton Wise Who Wrote the Book of Life? Lily E. Kay, 2000 This is a detailed history of one of the most important and dramatic episodes in modern science recounted from the novel vantage point of the dawn of the information age and its impact on representations of nature heredity and society Drawing on archives published sources and interviews the author situates work on the genetic code 1953 70 within the history of life science the rise of communication technosciences cybernetics information theory and computers the intersection of molecular biology with cryptanalysis and linguistics and the social history of postwar Europe and the United States Kay draws out the historical specificity in the process by which the central biological problem of DNA based protein synthesis came to be metaphorically represented as an information code and a writing technology and consequently as a book of life This molecular writing and reading is part of the cultural production of the Nuclear Age its power amplified by the centuries old theistic resonance of the book of life metaphor Yet as the author points out these are just metaphors analogies not ontologies Necessary and productive as they have been they have their epistemological limitations Deploying analyses of language cryptology and information theory the author persuasively argues that technically speaking the genetic code is not a code DNA is not a language and the genome is not an information system objections voiced by experts as early as the 1950s Thus her historical reconstruction and analyses also serve as a critique of the new genomic biopower Genomic textuality has become a fact of life a metaphor literalized she claims as human genome projects promise new levels of control over life through the meta level of information control of the word the DNA sequences and its editing and rewriting But the author shows how the humbling limits of these scriptural metaphors also pose a challenge to the textual and material mastery of the genomic book of life Environmental Dilemmas The Philosophical Review ,1999 Robert Mugerauer, Lynne Manzo, 2008 Because many people and ecosystems share or constitute any given place they all have a stake in the outcome of what any of us do in regard to environmental problems It is not surprising that issues are hotly contested given the many divergent interests needs and preferences of a community s members much less those of people downstream who are affected by the consequences of our actions or of outside parties who play a part including those who would speak on behalf of the ecosystems Thus we not only must make careful individual decisions concerning the environment but need to improve the way we operate socially especially given the roles and responsibilities we have as environmental professionals private sector developers public policy makers and staff or engaged citizens To aid in resolving our environmental dilemmas Mugerauer and Manzo focus on the decision making process Their goal is to help readers become more aware of the worldviews beliefs and values that enter into the decisions they make and to better resolve differences with others To guide readers in thinking about their own positions and how to approach ethical decisions Mugerauer and Manzo employ a number of exercises and cases to investigate the choices and issues that different stakeholders face for example concerning sustainability Additionally the book presents alternatives in terms of formalized ethical principles the major ethical theories and professional codes of ethics American Book Publishing Record ,2007 Bibliographic Guide to Psychology New York Public Library.
