Economic Transformation Turkey Neoliberalism Intervention:

The Economic Transformation of Turkey Nilgün Önder, 2016-10-27 The coup d'état which took place in Turkey on 12 September 1980 was the third in the history of the Republic and ushered in a three year period of military rule Nilgün Önder investigates the economic transformation of Turkey after this coup examining both the policies enacted under the military regime and those during the subsequent period of civilian government Önder argues the key aspect of economic policy was that of neoliberal restructuring and integral to this was the exclusion of organised labour from the political process In doing so she highlights the irony of the era that at an official level there was an emphasis upon neoliberal economic values such as limited state involvement And yet at the same time policies were enacted which were aimed at a more interventionist position when it came to industrial relations It was through new legislation and bureaucratisation of the industrial relations system that the state transformed the Turkish economy attempting to open it up to foreign investment and trade in effect creating the foundations of Turkey's current economic success The Economic Transformation of Turkey examines the relations between state and labour during this period by concentrating on the form of state and political regime As a result Önder highlights the continuation of neoliberal restructuring and the accompanying anti labour policy in Turkey throughout the 1980s and 1990s despite the transition to democratic rule Shaped by the theory that the form of rule and the actions of organized interests in a particular society are conditioned by the constraints of the world political economic order this book explores the networks of interactions between global capital and international institutions on the one hand and the state and domestic social forces in Turkey on the other Authoritarian Neoliberalism and Resistance in Turkey İmren Borsuk, Pınar Dinç, Sinem Kavak, Pınar Sayan, 2021-09-29 This book offers new clarity on three important political concepts authoritarianism neoliberalism and resistance While debates on authoritarian resurgence have been limited to the examination of political factors e.g. polarisation conflict until recently the rising literature on authoritarian neoliberalism highlights how the neoliberal restructuring of political economy bolsters the authoritarian tendencies of elected governments both in the Global South and the Global North This book will be an invaluable resource not only to scholars of Turkey and the Middle East but also to researchers into authoritarianism and neoliberalism around the world Chapters 2 and 10 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com Low

Carbon Transition in Emerging Economies Erkin Erdoğan, 2023-09-15 Many emerging economies are on the front line of the devastating impacts of global warming such as desertification and extreme weather events but for historical and political reasons they follow ambitious growth targets with seemingly little concern for climate change and environmental degradation Focusing on the case of Turkey this book investigates the economic impacts of possible climate change policies to help meet the required mitigation targets and transition to a low carbon economy In order to reach net zero targets by 2050 in compliance with the Paris Agreement Turkey must introduce policies that promote low carbon investments green jobs and low carbon employment more broadly This book explores the empirical evidence on the effectiveness of a carbon pricing mechanism by developing an econometric vector autoregression VAR model to analyse key data sets This time series analysis provides insights on a macro level dealing with aggregate data in which the role and complexity of micro interferences disappear allowing for the discovery of patterns and changes over time Thus the book contributes to the literature on methodology by arguing that time series analysis is one of the best fitting approaches to estimate possible impacts of climate change policies on an economy Additionally the results of the model are compared and contrasted with similar data from other emerging economies to identify potential common policy solutions between countries at a similar stage of development This book is vital reading for researchers interested in climate policy the economics of climate change and environmental economics

Giving Credit to Dictatorship Valerio Torreggiani, José Luís Cardoso, 2024-12-31 This edited volume explores the interplay between political economic and financial development in twentieth century European authoritarian regimes The book features case studies that explore the impact of domestic and international finance on the rise stabilization and decline of various European dictatorships of the twentieth century such as Italy Germany Yugoslavia Portugal Spain Greece and Turkey The chapters delve into the role that the regimes played in shaping and transforming the financial system exploring their international interconnections as well as the influence of economic theory and ideological constructs in dictatorial environments Applying the methodological framework of the history of capitalism to the analysis of the relationship between authoritarian regimes and financial systems the book provides new insights into the relationships between politics and economics and it offers a fresh perspective on contemporary political issues and their interaction with the global financial system This collection is an ideal resource for postgraduate students and researchers in history economics political economy and political sciences

The Making of Neoliberal Turkey Dr Aysecan Terzioglu, Dr Cenk Ozbay, Dr Maral Erol, Dr Z. Umut Turem, 2016-01-28 Exploring the divergent aspects of the rule of neoliberalism in Turkey since 1980s each chapter in this book highlights a specific dimension of this socio economic process and together these essays construct a thorough examination of the whirlwind of changes recently experienced by Turkish society With particular focus on the new ways in which social power operates expert contributors explore new discourses and subjectivities around environmentalism health popular culture economic policies feminism and motherhood urban space and minorities class and masculinities By questioning the primary influence of the state in these micro political matters they engage with concepts of neoliberalism and governmentality to provide a fresh grounded and analytical perspective on the routes through which social power navigates the society This sustained examination of the new axes of power and subjectivity with a particular eye on the formation of new political spaces of governance and resistance deepens the analysis of Turkey's experiment with neoliberal globalization

The Cultural Political Economy of the Construction Industry in Turkey Ismail Doga Karatepe, 2020-10-20 The Cultural Political Economy of the Construction Industry in Turkey analyses the growth of the popularity of the Justice and Development Party official acronym AK Parti or AKP of Turkey's president Erdogan through the lens of the construction sector. It provides a comprehensive analysis of the question of hegemony and the electoral success of the AKP despite frequent economic downturns and ferocious political conflicts including a coup d'état attempt and rekindled armed struggles. In this book Ismail Doga Karatepe critically examines the AKP's ability to satisfy the needs and wishes of different social classes and groups. By taking the construction sector as an example, the book analyses these in the context of the changes in the urban landscape of modern Turkey.

Greek-Turkish Relations Mustafa Aydın, Kostas Ifantis, 2025-06-27 This book provides an overview of the complex and turbulent relations between Greece and Turkey, focusing on recent developments and the challenges in their bilateral relationship. It draws on a comprehensive array of international relations theories to suggest that sources of instability in the Aegean are found in security relations, identity and cultural discourses, and patriarchal and class societal structures. The chapters reflect on several questions about the role and significance of constitutive and non-constitutive elements in the Greek-Turkish policy and social arenas. They offer a better understanding of the bilateral interaction and why the Greek-Turkish relationship continues to hold the potential for traditional geopolitical antagonism and conflict, as well as why it is so hard to escape a security culture of hopelessly unresolved problems, enduring security dilemmas, crisis-prone geopolitics. The chapters in this book discuss the historical context, including attempts at reconciliation, and examine the role of perceptions, geopolitics, and historical grievances in shaping the current situation. The book emphasizes the cyclical nature of relations, with periods of calm followed by tensions and crises. It highlights the need for a comprehensive approach to resolve the existing disputes, including the importance of confidence-building measures and a political settlement. Overall, the book underlines the complexity of Greek-Turkish relations and the challenges in achieving lasting peace and stability in the region. This book is aimed at scholars, policymakers, and students in the fields of international relations, political science, and security studies. The chapters in this book, except for Chapter 8, were published as a special issue of Journal of Balkan and Near Eastern Studies. Chapter 8 was originally published in Southeast European and Black Sea Studies.

Kurds of Modern Turkey Cenk

Saracoglu,2011 For sixty years Turkey has been experiencing a significant migration movement from Eastern Anatolia to its Western cities However since the 1980 s this migration movement has gained some qualitatively different characteristics as a result of the increasing insecurity of the Eastern regions of Turkey on the one hand and the neoliberal transformation of the Turkish economy on the other Whilst the former forced a large number of people from Eastern regions to flood into Western cities the latter dragged them into difficult socioeconomic conditions in the post migration process One of the outcomes of this situation was the emergence of socio economically and spatially segregated Kurdish communities in Western cities
