Models for Effective Service Delivery in Special Education Programs Epler, Pam, 2014-12-31 Educators today are challenged with the task of designing curricula and standards for students of varying abilities While technology and innovation steadily improve classroom learning teachers and administrators continue to struggle in developing the best methodologies and practices for students with disabilities Models for Effective Service Delivery in Special Education Programs brings together case studies and academic research on successful classroom models and practices to provide rewarding learning environments for students with disabilities This publication is an essential reference source for special education teachers supervisors directors and administrators as well as academicians and researchers interested in developing special education programs within school districts and classrooms

Geography of Education Colin Brock, 2016-09-22 Geography of Education sets out the scope of this emergent interdisciplinary field It illustrates the essential affinity of geographical and educational studies by emphasising the geographical factors influencing formal education systems and other forms of knowledge transfer Colin Brock begins by arguing the theoretical synergy that exists between the nature of both geography and educational studies as disciplines This is then exemplified by an analysis of the emergence of systems of schooling under the influence of religious political and economic forces The author also considers informal and non formal modes of education and argues that the huge diversity of such provision creates a rich resource for research into geographies of education In the final chapters the author turns his attention to the role of cyberspace which has its own geography in learning and considers education as a form of humanitarian response to issues of environmental sustainability By bringing together a wide range of themes and topics relating to both education and geography Colin Brock argues that the geographical approach should inform the evolution of all types of educational provision around the world

Space, Place and Scale in the Study of Education Lorraine Symaco, Colin Brock, 2017-10-02 The term space is inherently geographical Educational provision and activity takes place within spaces ranging from a room at home or in a school to a campus to an administrative area which could be a state within a country a whole country or a group of countries Such spaces are known as geographical surfaces Within these spaces the process of learning and teaching takes place at particular points that are often nodes in a network which may be formal such as a group of schools or universities or non formal such as in cyberspace Understanding what goes on depends on the scale at which it is observed ranging from individuals to global outreach Altogether this constitutes the geography of educational reality This comprehensive volume includes a theoretical background plus a sample of situations including school level policy and administration inequitable access education hubs and small states It offers an introduction to a relatively neglected member of the family of education foundation disciplines the geography of education This book was originally published as a special issue of Comparative Education
