Strategies of Peace Daniel Philpott, Gerard Powers, 2010-03-24 How can a just peace be built in sites of genocide massive civil war dictatorship terrorism and poverty In Strategies of Peace the first volume in the Studies in Strategic Peacebuilding series fifteen leading scholars propose an imaginative and provocative approach to peacebuilding Today the dominant thinking is the liberal peace which stresses cease fires elections and short run peace operations carried out by international institutions western states and local political elites But the liberal peace is not enough the authors argue A just and sustainable peace requires a far more holistic vision that links together activities actors and institutions at all levels By exploring innovative models for building lasting peace a United Nations counter terrorism policy that also promotes good governance coordination of the international prosecution of war criminals with local efforts to settle civil wars increasing the involvement of religious leaders who have a unique ability to elicit peace settlements and many others the authors advance a bold new vision for peacebuilding The Ends of Literature Brett Levinson, 2001 The Ends of Literature analyzes the part

played by literature within contemporary Latin American thought and politics above all the politics of neoliberalism The why of contemporary Latin American literature is the book's overarching concern Its wide range includes close readings of the prose of Cortázar Carpentier Paz Valenzuela Piglia and Las Casas of the relationship of the Boom movement and its aftermath of testimonial narrative and of contemporary Chilean and Chicano film The work also investigates in detail various theoretical projects as they intersect with and emerge from Latin American scholarship cultural studies deconstruction psychoanalysis and postcolonial studies Latin American literature both as a vehicle of conservatism and as an agent of subversion is bound from its inception to the rise of the state Literature's nature role and status are therefore altered when the Latin American nation state succumbs to the process of neoliberalism as the too strong state dictatorship yields to the too weak state the market and as the various practices of civil society and public life are replaced by private or privatized endeavors However neither the end of literature nor the end of the state can be assumed The end of literature in Latin America is in fact the call for more literature it is the call of literature in particular that of the Boom The end of the state likewise is the demand upon this state The book then analyzes the ends in question as at once their purpose direction future and conclusion Also key to the study is the notion of transition Within much recent Latin American political discussion la transición refers to the passage from dictatorship to democracy as well as to the failure of this shift the failure of post dictatorship The author argues that the movement from literary to cultural studies while issuing from intellectual and aesthetic circles is an integral component of this same transition The thematization of the bond between these two displacements hence of Latin America's voyage into post transition forms a fundamental portion of the text
