Evolutionary Economic Geography Theoretical And Empirical Progress Regions And Cities:

Evolutionary Economic Geography Dieter Kogler, 2017-10-02 Economic geographers increasingly consider the significance of history in shaping the contemporary socio economic landscape and increasingly believe that experiences and competencies acquired over time by individuals and entities in particular localities to a large degree determine present configurations as well as future regional trajectories Attempts to trace understand and investigate the pathways from past to present have given rise to the thriving and exciting sub field of Evolutionary Economic Geography EEG EEG highlights the important factors that initiate inhibit or consolidate the contextual settings and relationships in which regions and their respective agents which comprise and shape economic activity and social reproduction change over time It has at its core the production and destruction of novelty in space and the links between innovation and regional economic fortunes The creation of knowledge its movement and recombination within different regional ensembles of economic agents and institutions plays a critical role in the evolution of the space economy EEG provides a framework to disentangle the complexity of technological change and regional economic development based on a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches In only a short time EEG has established itself as a promising and rapidly evolving research framework with its focus on the driving forces of regional development across various scales and its attempt to translate findings into public policy This book advances the theoretical foundations of EEG and demonstrates how EEG utilises and operationalises conceptual frameworks both established and new Contributions also point to future research avenues and extensions of EEG attempting to build stronger ties between theory empirical evidence and relevance to policy This book was originally published as a special issue of Regional Studies

Handbook on the Geographies of Regions and Territories Anssi Paasi, John Harrison, Martin Jones, 2018-07-27 This new international Handbook provides the reader with the most up to date and original viewpoints on critical debates relating to the rapidly transforming geographies of regions and territories as well as related key concepts such as place scale networks and regionalism Bringing together renowned specialists who have extensively theorized these spatial concepts and contributed to rich empirical research in disciplines such as geography sociology political science and IR studies this interdisciplinary collection offers fresh cutting edge and contextual insights on the significance of regions and territories in today's dynamic world

The New Oxford Handbook of Economic Geography Gordon L. Clark, Maryann P. Feldman, Meric S. Gertler, Dariusz Wójcik, 2018 The first fifteen years of the 21st century have thrown into sharp relief the challenges of growth equity stability and sustainability facing the world economy In addition they have exposed the inadequacies of mainstream economics in providing answers to these challenges This volume gathers over 50 leading scholars from around the world to offer a forward looking perspective of economic geography to understanding the various building blocks relationships and trajectories in the world economy The perspective is at the same time grounded in theory and in the experiences of particular places Reviewing state of the art of economic geography setting agendas and with illustrations and empirical evidence from all over the world the book should be an essential reference for students researchers as well as strategists and policy makers Building on the success of the first edition this volume offers a radically revised updated and broader approach to economic geography With the backdrop of the global financial crisis finance is investigated in chapters on financial stability financial innovation global financial networks the global map of savings and investments and financialization Environmental challenges are addressed in chapters on resource economies vulnerability of regions to climate change carbon markets and energy transitions Distribution and consumption feature alongside more established topics on the firm innovation and work The handbook also captures the theoretical and conceptual innovations of the last fifteen years including evolutionary economic geography and the global production networks approach Addressing the dangers of inequality instability and environmental crisis head on the volume concludes with strategies for growth and new ways of envisioning the spatiality of economy for the future

Innovation, Regional Development and the Life Sciences Kean Birch, 2016-10-14 The life sciences is an industrial sector that covers the development of biological products and the use of biological processes in the production of goods services and energy This sector is frequently presented as a major opportunity for policy makers to upgrade and renew regional economies leading to social and economic development through support for high tech innovation Innovation Regional Development and the Life Sciences analyses where innovation happens in the life sciences why it happens in those places and what this means for regional development policies and strategies Focusing on the UK and Europe its arguments are relevant to a variety of countries and regions pursuing high tech innovation and development policies The book's theoretical approach incorporates diverse geographies e.g. global national and regional and political economic forces e.g. discourses governance and finance in order to understand where innovation happens in the life sciences where and how value circulates in the life sciences and who captures the value produced in life sciences innovation This book will be of interest to researchers students and policy makers dealing with regional local economic development

Reanimating Regions James Riding, Martin Jones, 2017-05-12 Writing regions undertaking a regional study was once a standard form of geographic communication and critique This was until the quantitative revolution in the middle of the previous century and more definitively the critical turn in human geography towards the end of the twentieth century From then on writing regions as they were experienced phenomenologically or arguing culturally historically and politically with regions was deemed to be old fashioned Yet the region is and always will be a central geographical concept and thinking about regions can tell us a lot about the history of the discipline called geography Despite taking up an identifiable place within the geographical imagination in scholarship and beyond region remains a relatively forgotten under used and in part under theorised term Reanimating Regions marks the continued reinvigoration of a set of disciplinary debates surrounding regions the regional and regional geography Across 18 chapters from international interdisciplinary scholars this book writes and performs region as a temporary permanence something held stable not fixed and absolute at different points in time for different purposes There is as this expansive volume outlines no single reading of a region Reanimating Regions collectively rebalances the region within geography and geographical thought In renewing the geography of regions as not only a site of investigation but also as an analytical framework through which to write the world what emerges is a powerful reworking of the geographic imagination Read against one another the chapters weave together timely commentaries on region and regions across the globe with a particular emphasis upon the regional as played out in the United Kingdom and regional worlds both within and beyond Europe offering chapters from Africa and South America Addressing both the political and the cultural this volume responds to the need for a consolidated and considered reflection on region the regional and regional geography speaking directly to broader intellectual concerns with performance aesthetics identity mobilities the environment and the body

Special Issue: Evolutionary Economic Geography, 2015

Territorial Policy and Governance Iain Deas, Stephen Hincks, 2017-02-24 In response to both policy and conceptual debates alternative narratives have begun to emerge about territorial governance and policymaking As local and regional policy actors strive to respond to the geographically uneven effects of the economic crises of the early twenty first century a crucial question emerges what are the opportunities and challenges presented by alternative forms of territorially based governance and policy The aim of this edited volume therefore is critically to explore the opportunities and challenges presented by different forms of territorial policy and governance Drawing on conceptual debates and empirical research from the United Kingdom and other international contexts the contributors engage with issues around the politics and governance of territorial development economic development planning and regeneration and the environment Territorial Policy and Governance addresses the question of how alternative forms of territorial governance and policy can help to shape patterns of urban and regional development highlighting the related opportunities constraints and challenges that confront their operationalisation This book will be essential reading for international audiences with an interest in territorial development governance politics human geography and planning and regeneration

Higher Education and the Creative Economy

Roberta Comunian, Abigail Gilmore, 2016-03-10 Since the DCMS Creative Industries Mapping Document highlighted the key role played by creative activities in the UK economy and society the creative industries agenda has expanded across Europe and internationally They have the support of local authorities regional development agencies research councils arts and cultural agencies and other sector organisations Within this framework higher education institutions have also engaged in the creative agenda but have struggled to define their role in this growing sphere of activities Higher Education and the Creative Economy critically engages with the complex interconnections between higher education geography cultural policy and the creative economy This book is organised into four sections which articulate the range of dynamics that can emerge between higher education and the creative economy partnership and collaboration across Higher Education institutions and the creative and cultural industries the development of creative human capital connections between arts schools and local art
