Getting Saved In America Taiwanese Immigration And Religious Experience:

Getting Saved in America Carolyn Chen, 2009-04-11 What does becoming American have to do with becoming religious Many immigrants become more religious after coming to the United States Taiwanese are no different Like many Asian immigrants to the United States Taiwanese frequently convert to Christianity after immigrating But Americanization is more than simply a process of Christianization Most Taiwanese American Buddhists also say they converted only after arriving in the United States even though Buddhism is a part of Taiwan's dominant religion By examining the experiences of Christian and Buddhist Taiwanese Americans Getting Saved in America tells a story of how people become religious by becoming American and how people become American by becoming religious Carolyn Chen argues that many Taiwanese immigrants deal with the challenges of becoming American by becoming religious Based on in depth interviews with Taiwanese American Christians and Buddhists and extensive ethnographic fieldwork at a Taiwanese Buddhist temple and a Taiwanese Christian church in Southern California Getting Saved in America is the first book to compare how two religions influence the experiences of one immigrant group By showing how religion transforms many immigrants into Americans it sheds new light on the question of how immigrants become American

Asian Migrants and Religious Experience Bernardo Brown, Brenda Yeoh, 2025-10-01 Typically scholars approach migrants' religions as a safeguard of cultural identity something that connects migrants to their communities of origin This ethnographic anthology challenges that position by reframing the religious experiences of migrants as a transformative force capable of refashioning narratives of displacement into journeys of spiritual awakening and missionary calling These essays explore migrants' motivations in support of an argument that to travel inspires a search for new meaning in religion

Multicultural America Ronald H. Bayor, 2011-07-22 This encyclopedia contains 50 thorough profiles of the most numerically significant immigrant groups now making their homes in the United States telling the story of our newest immigrants and introducing them to their fellow Americans One of the main reasons the United States has evolved so quickly and radically in the last 100 years is the large number of ethnically diverse immigrants that have become part of its population People from every area of the world have come to America in an effort to realize their dreams of more opportunity and better lives either for themselves or for their children This book provides a fascinating picture of the lives of immigrants from 50 countries who have contributed substantially to the diversity of the United States exploring all aspects of the immigrants' lives in the old world as well as the new Each essay explains why these people have come to the United States how they have adjusted to and integrated into American society and what portends for their future Accounts of the experiences of the second generation and the effects of relations between the United States and the sending country round out these unusually rich and demographically detailed portraits

A New Model of Religious Conversion Ines W.

Jindra, 2014-02-06 Based on the analysis of 52 conversion narratives to various religious groups A New Model of Religious Conversion utilizes case studies for comparison of converts backgrounds network influence and conversion narratives The author convincingly illustrates a fit between the converts background and the religion they convert to such as between disorganized family backgrounds and highly structured religions Conversely those from highly structured backgrounds often convert to more open groups The book also makes it clear that not all conversions are influenced by networks or align themselves with a social constructivist view of a conversion as an account Taking converts trajectories seriously the author makes a strong case for the application of biographical sociology to the study of conversion and American sociology overall
