Farmer Innovation In Africa A Source Of Inspiration For Agricultural Development:

Farmer Innovation in Africa Chris Reij, Ann Waters-Bayer, 2001 Based on fieldwork and involving farmers extension workers and researchers this is an edited volume of studies of how farmers successfully experiment and innovate to increase productivity often in adverse and resource poor conditions It covers a wide range of countries and varieties of farming and shows how successful and motivating an approach that builds on farmer innovation can be It confirms the resourcefulness of the farmers themselves and provides an alternative to the conventional transfer of technology development paradigm one that recognizes the farmers themselves as the major resource Innovations as Key to the Green Revolution in Africa Andre Bationo, Boaz Waswa, Jeremiah M. Okeyo, Fredah Maina, Job Maguta Kihara, 2011-08-30 Africa can achieve self sufficiency in food production through adoption of innovations in the agriculture sector Numerous soil fertility and crop production technologies have been generated through research however wide adoption has been low African farmers need better technologies more sustainable practices and fertilizers to improve and sustain their crop productivity and to prevent further degradation of agricultural lands The agricultural sector also needs to be supported by functional institutions and policies that will be able to respond to emerging challenges of globalization and climate change David Livingstone and the

Myth of African Poverty and Disease Sjoerd Rijpma, 2015-06-24 This study about David Livingstone is different from all other publications about him Here Livingstone is not the main topic of interest the focus of the author is on nutrition and health in pre colonial Africa and Livingstone is his key informant David Livingstone and the Myth of African Poverty and Disease is an unusual book After a close examination of Livingstone s writings and comparative reading of contemporary authors Sjoerd Rijpma has been able to draw cautious conclusions about the relatively favourable conditions of health and nutrition in southern and central Africa during the pre colonial period His findings shed new light on the medical history of Sub Saharan Africa The surprise awaiting travellers in and also before 19th century Africa was that the inhabitants of the interior even the slaves were healthier and better fed than many of their contemporaries in Europe s Industrial Revolution An impressive piece of scholarship truly forensic in its close reading and re reading of Livingstone s published works and those of other travellers during the same era clearly a labour of love which has taken years to complete Joanna Lewis

Innovation Africa Pascal Sanginga, Ann Waters-Bayer, Susan Kaaria, Jemimah Njuki, Chesha Wettasinha, 2012-05-04 Innovation by with and for farmers in Africa is one of the major contemporary challenges of development This book will be essential reading for anyone interested in these issues Professor Ian Scoones Institute of Development Studies at the University of Sussex UK This book takes the theme of innovation and its mainstreaming in research and extension a major step forward I am impressed by the wide range of subjects and the diversity of authors Chris Reij Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam The Netherlands Agricultural research extension and education can contribute greatly to enhancing agricul

Study on impacts of farmer-led research supported by civil society organizations Wettasinha, C., Waters-Bayer, A., van

Veldhuizen, L., Quiroga, G., Swaans, K., 2015-01-15 Decades of scientific research related to agriculture and natural resource management have brought limited benefits to smallholder farmers including crop farmers fishers livestock keepers and other resource users Therefore donors policymakers and civil society organizations CSOs such as farmer organizations and nongovernmental organizations NGOs are urging the formal research sector to make its work more useful to smallholder farmers Many institutions of agricultural research and development are now seeking ways to engage more closely with smallholders in order to conduct research that is more relevant for and accessible to them and are seeking examples and good practices as sources of learning Some examples of research that is focused on smallholders and in which the process is co managed and driven by smallholders can be found in informal research initiatives specifically those which are facilitated by CSOs The purpose of this study was to identify such examples of informal agricultural research and development that could be documented and thus made accessible to formal researchers This report also describes farmer led research findings and their dissemination and analyzes available evidence on the impact of farmer led approaches to agricultural research and development on rural livelihoods local capacity to innovate and adapt and influence on governmental institutions of agricultural research and development Community Innovations in Sustainable Land Management Maxwell

Mudhara, Saa Dittoh, Mohamed Sessay, William Critchley, Sabina Di Prima, 2016-06-23 It is increasingly recognized that land can be managed most sustainably through involving local communities This book highlights the potential of a new methodology of uncovering and stimulating community initiatives in sustainable land management in Africa Analyses of four contrasting African countries Ghana Morocco South Africa and Uganda show that as communities directly face the challenges of land degradation they are likely to develop initiatives themselves in terms of sustainable land management These initiatives or innovations may be more appropriate and sustainable than those emanating from research stations located far from the communities The book describes the rationale of the approach used the set of steps followed how the project managed to engage the communities to understand the importance of the activities they were undertaking and how they were stimulated to improve and extend their initiatives and innovativeness Examples covered include soil fertility community forestry afforestation water invasive species and grazing land management Central to the book is the way communities and scientists interacted between the four countries and learnt from each other The book also shows how the initiatives were outscaled locally The Journal of Environment & Development ,2005 Climate Change Adaptation in Africa

Walter Leal Filho, Simane Belay, Jokasha Kalangu, Wuta Menas, Pantaleo Munishi, Kumbirai Musiyiwa, 2017-03-27 This collection showcases experiences from research and field projects in climate change adaptation on the African continent It includes a set of papers presented at a symposium held in Addis Abeba in February 2016 which brought together international experts to discuss fostering African resilience and capacity to adapt The papers introduce a wide range of methodological approaches and practical case studies to show how climate change adaptation can be implemented in regions and countries across the continent Responding to the need for more cross sectoral interaction among the various stakeholders working in the field of climate change adaptation the book fosters the exchange of information on best practices across the African continent
