Travellers, Intellectuals, and the World Beyond Medieval Europe James Muldoon, 2017-05-15 As the articles reprinted in this volume demonstrate medieval men and women were curious about the world around them They wanted to hear about distant lands and the various peoples who inhabited them Travellers tales factual such as that of Marco Polo and fictional such as Chaucer's famous pilgrimage entertained audiences across Europe Colorful mappaemundi placed in churches illustrated these other lands and peoples for those who could not read Medieval travel literature was not only entertaining however it was also informative generating proto ethnological information about the world beyond Latin Christendom that provided useful guidance for those such as merchants and missionaries who intended to travel abroad Merchants learned about safe travel routes to foreign lands about dangers to be avoided on the roads and at sea about cultural practices that might interfere with their attempts at trade and about products that would be suitable for foreign markets Churchmen read the reports of missionaries to understand the beliefs of Muslims and other non believers in order to debate with them and to learn their languages These articles illustrate how travellers reports in turn shaped the European response to the world beyond Europe and are set in context in the editor's introduction

The Worlds of Junipero Serra Steven W. Hackel, 2018-02-23 In September 2015 Jun ipero Serra was canonized by Pope Francis in Washington DC against the protest of many Californian Native Americans who criticized his brutal treatment of their ancestors and destruction of their culture Like most complex historical figures Jun ipero Serra has been interpreted in countless ways often contextualized mainly in California This book situates Serra in the context of the three major places that he lived learned and proselytized Mallorca Mexico and Alta California Scholars from all three countries contribute to a rare glimpse into the life of the saint by considering his use of music and art his representation in popular culture his education ideology and Franciscan influence the plans and building of the missions and his relation to native peoples Provided by publisher

The Architecture of Medieval Churches John A.H. Lewis, 2017-11-20 The Architecture of Medieval Churches investigates the impact of affective theology on architecture and artefacts focusing on the Middle Ages as a period of high achievement of this synthesis It explores aspects of medieval church and cathedral architecture in relation to the contemporary metaphysics and theology which articulated an integrated theocentric culture architecture and art Three modes of attention comprehension instruction and contemplation informed the builders intuition and intention The book's central premise reasons that love for God was the critical force in the creation of vernacular church architecture using a selection of medieval writings to provide a unique critique of the genius of architecture and art during this period An interdisciplinary study between architecture theology and philosophy it will appeal to academics and researchers in these fields

Peacemaking and Religious Violence Roger A Johnson, 2011-05-26 From its very beginning Christian faith has been engaged with religious violence The first Christians were persecuted by their co religionists and then by imperial Rome Jesus taught them in such circumstances not to retaliate but to be peacemakers to love their enemies and to pray for their persecutors Jesus's response to religious violence of the first century was often ignored but it was never forgotten Even during those centuries when the church herself persecuted Christian heretics Jews and Muslims some Christians still struggled to bear witness to the peace mandate of their Lord In the thirteenth century Thomas Aquinas wrote a theology to help his Dominican brothers persuade Cathar Christians to return to their Catholic faith peacefully Ramon Lull a Christian student of Arabic and the Qur'an sought to help his fellow Christians recognize the elements of belief they shared in common with the Muslims in their midst In the fifteenth century Nicholas of Cusa a Church Cardinal and theologian expanded Lull's project to include the newly discovered religions of Asia In the seventeenth century Lord Herbert an English diplomat and lay Christian began to identify the political union of church and government as a causal factor in the religious warfare of post Reformation Christendom One and a half centuries later Thomas Jefferson a lay theologian of considerable political stature won a political struggle in the American colonies to disestablish religion first in his home colony of Virginia and then in the new nation he helped to found All five of these theologians reclaimed the peace mandate of Jesus in their response to the religious violence of their own eras All of which points us to some intriguing Christian responses to religious violence in our own century as recounted in the epilogue
