Een Tempel In Turfgraversland:

Unity and Discontinuity Krista de Jonge, Koen Ottenheym, 2007 This study focuses on change and continuity within the architecture of the Southern and Northern Low Countries from 1530 to 1700 Instead of looking at both regions separately and stressing the stylistic differences between the classicist North and the baroque South the book establishes a new common history of architecture for both parts of the Low Countries during the 17th century Their reception of Antiquity in the guise of the Italian Renaissance first introduced in Court circles in the early 16th century constituted the common heritage on which they built after the political separation The book also reassesses the position of Netherlandish architecture in the international debate on the Renaissance north of the Alps Krista De Jonge is professor of architectural history at the Katholieke Universiteit Leuven She has published extensively on early modern Netherlandish architecture including Burgundian and Habsburg court residences and the Renaissance problematic Konrad A Ottenheym is professor for architectural history at Utrecht University His research is focussed on Dutch early modern architecture and its international connections

Vision in Text and Image Herman Willem Hoen, M. G. Kemperink, 2008 Nowadays there is little impetus to analyse literary texts and works of visual art per se as was much more the case in the 1960s and 1970s So more attention has been paid to the ties between text image and the surrounding contemporary culture Furthermore the study of arts is no longer considered as totally separate from the study of non artistic images and texts either methodologically or ideologically It is the aim of this volume to reveal the shifts in divisions of labour within the study of arts Through their practical approach to research and in some cases also by way of theoretical reflection they illustrate the dynamics and interchange that characterise the relationship between text image and culture Jacket
