Immigration and Categorical Inequality Ernesto Castañeda, 2017-09-13 Immigration and Categorical Inequality explains the general processes of migration the categorization of newcomers in urban areas as racial or ethnic others and the mechanisms that perpetuate inequality among groups Inspired by the pioneering work of Charles Tilly on chain migration transnational communities trust networks and categorical inequality renowned migration scholars apply Tilly's theoretical concepts using empirical data gathered in different historical periods and geographical areas ranging from New York to Tokyo and from Barcelona to Nepal The contributors of this volume demonstrate the ways in which social boundary mechanisms produce relational processes of durable categorical inequality This understanding is an important step to stop treating differences between certain groups as natural and unchangeable This volume will be valuable for scholars students and the public in general interested in understanding the periodic rise of nativism in the United States and elsewhere foreigners in over 300 thousand Chinese have arrived in Japan as students Student migrants are the most visible controversial and active Chinese immigrants in Japan The majority of them enter Japan s labour market and many have stayed on indefinitely Based on the author s original fieldwork data and government statistics this book gives a comprehensive portrayal of an often neglected group of international migrants in a society that for decades has been considered a non immigrant country It introduces Chinese students diverse mobility trajectories analyses their career patterns describes their transnational living arrangements and explores the mechanisms that give rise to their identity as new overseas Chinese This book contributes to our understanding of international migration and international education in an age of globalization It points out that student migrants are key to the internationalization of Japanese society and potentially in other countries where immigration is still considered a challenging reality This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese Studies Japanese Studies Sociology and Labour Studies The Director-general's community-managed forest enterprises Adhikary, A.,Jhaveri, N.,Karki, R.,Paudel, N.S.,2019-11-22 Forest rights devolution in Nepal from the late 1980s created different types of community based forest management institutions in particular community forestry user groups Effective forest regeneration led to a new focus on entrepreneurial opportunities for improving livelihoods and social equity resulting in considerable if unstable enterprise growth Employing the concept of enabling and asset investments the study examines how user groups have established and managed forest based enterprises taking account of regulatory and non regulatory factors The study is based on primary data from interviews with 12 community managed forest enterprises as well as secondary data from the published government and grey literature In light of the high export demand for non timber forest products from India and elsewhere there has been gradual policy support for enterprise development from the government Enabling investments by the government donors and non governmental organizations have built momentum and contributed to success Forest based enterprises have the potential to change the face of Nepal s rural economy However complex and poorly harmonized regulatory requirements have kept many community managed forest enterprises in a state of informality and unable to attract asset investment An emerging second generation of community managed forest enterprises can benefit from reductions in regulatory burdens and attract asset investments capable of overcoming current obstacles to growth The Handbook of Contemporary Cambodia Katherine

International Labour Migration

International Labour Office, 2010 There are almost 200 million migrants in the world today The majority of people leaving their home countries are migrating for work and almost half of them are women The contribution of these workers is evident yet many work in unacceptable conditions denied access to social protection and their labour rights With its mandate on all labour issues the ILO has built up a wealth of knowledge on migration for employment in terms of both original research and the rich experience of its Members governments employers and trade unions in dealing with migrant workers Drawing on these unique resources this book offers a comprehensive and accessible overview of international labour migration and the ILO's efforts to protect migrant workers through a rights based approach This book gives new insights into the factors that motivate people to seek work outside their country of origin and the significant development effects on both origin and destination countries Exposing the often limited access of migrant workers to their fundamental rights at work the book describes in detail the international norms that have evolved to protect migrant workers and ensure decent work for all It reflects on existing and potential international governance structures and addresses linkages between migration and development The book reviews the ILO's Multilateral Framework on Labour Migration and discusses its role in improving policy making and upgrading international cooperation in the area of labour migration Book jacket

Governing International Labour

Migration Christina Gabriel, Hélène Pellerin, 2008 This book offers a critical examination of the way in which the nature and governance of international labour migration is changing within a globalizing environment It examines how labour mobility and the governance of labour migration are changing by exploring the links between political economy and differentiated forms of labour migration Additionally it considers the effects of new social models of inclusion and exclusion on labour migration Therefore the book troubles the conventional dichotomies and categorizations permanent vs temporary skilled vs

unskilled legal vs illegal that have informed migration studies and regulatory frameworks Theoretically this volume contributes to an ongoing project of reframing the study of migration within politics and international relations Bringing together an interdisciplinary group of scholars drawing on examples from the European Union North America and Asia Governing International Labour Migration will be of interest to students and scholars of migration studies IPE international relations and economics

Microfinance in Mozambique Fion De Vletter,2001 Based on experiences in southern Mozambique argues that microfinance programmes where donors require a high percentage of female participation will tend to avoid areas where women are most in need of credit and other forms of microfinance support Identifies economic social and geographic factors contributing to regional differentiation of gender based activities and looks at two progressive microfinance methodologies

Impact of Remittances on Poverty and Financial Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Sanjeev Gupta,Smita Wagh,Catherine A. Pattillo,2007-02 This paper assesses the impact of the steadily growing remittance flows to sub Saharan Africa SSA Though the region receives only a small portion of the total recorded remittances to developing countries and the volume of aid flows to SSA swamps remittances this paper finds that remittances which are a stable private transfer have a direct poverty mitigating effect and promote financial development These findings hold even after factoring in the reverse causality between remittances poverty and financial development The paper posits that formalizing such flows can serve as an effective access point for unbanked individuals and households and that the effective use of such flows can mitigate the costs of skilled out migration in SSA
