Hsu-Ming Teo,Paloma Fresno-Calleja,2024-06-13 This book explores how postmillennial Anglophone women writers use romantic narrativisations of history to explore revise repurpose and challenge the past in their novels exposing the extent to which past societies were damaging to women by instead imagining alternative histories The novelists discussed employ the generic conventions of romance to narrate their understanding of historical and contemporary injustice and to reflect upon women s achievements and the price they paid for autonomy and a life of public purpose The volume seeks firstly to discuss the work of revision or reparation being performed by romantic historical fiction and secondly to analyse how the past is being repurposed for use in the present It contends that the discourses and genre of romance work to provide a reparative reading of the past but there are limitations and entrenched problems in such readings The Duke Who Stole My Heart

Jacobites and the Grand Tour Jérémy Filet,2025-04-22 In the first monograph to fully examine the intersecting networks of

Jacobites and travellers to the continent Filet considers how small states used official diplomacy and deployed soft power embodied by educational academies to achieve foreign policy goals This work uses little known archival materials to explain how and why certain small states secretly supported the Jacobite cause during the crucial years surrounding the 1715 rising while others stayed out of Jacobite affairs At the same time the book demonstrates how early modern small states sought to cultivate good relations with Britain by attracting travellers as part of a wider trend of ensuring connections with future diplomats or politicians in case a Stuart restoration never came This publication therefore brings together a study of Britain small states Jacobitism and educational travel in its nexus at continental academies The Virtuoso Grace
