Embodying Ecological Heritage Maya Community:

Embodying Ecological Heritage in a Maya Community Kristina Baines, 2015-12-29 Embodying Ecological Heritage in a Maya Community Health Happiness and Identity provides an ethnographic account of life in a rural farming village in southern Belize focusing on the connections between traditional ecological practices and the health and wellness of the Maya community living there. It discusses how complex histories, ecologies, and development practices are negotiated by individuals of all ages and the community at large, detailing how they interact with their changing environments. The study has wide applicability for indigenous communities fighting for rights to manage their lands across the globe, as well as for considering how health is connected to heritage practices in communities worldwide.

Heritage in the Body Kristina Baines, 2024-11-19 Through storytelling, ethnography, and interviews, Heritage in the Body examines the links between health and heritage in times of change. Using a series of case studies, anthropologist Kristina Baines tells the intimate stories of how Indigenous Maya and Garifuna Belizeans both in Belize and in the United States navigate macro-level processes such as economic development, climate change, political shifts, and global health crises in the context of changes in their own lives. Employing an embodied ecological heritage (EEH) framework, Baines explores the links between health and heritage as a fluid series of ecological practices. Health and wellness are holistically defined and approached from a phenomenological perspective. Baines focuses on how sensory experiences change the body through practice and provides insights into community-driven alternatives as a means to maintain and support happy, healthy lives.

Entangled and Empowered: Agency in Multispecies Communities Keri Stevenson, 2025-08-19 Entangled and Empowered: Agency in Multispecies Communities is a collection that approaches the inevitable reality of entanglement between humans and other beings from a perspective of action and wonder. It argues that actors as diverse as bacteria, snakes, butterflies, ducks, and cacao trees can help us enact joy in fields as different as art, cinema, literature, and anthropology. While acknowledging the imminent reality of climate change, the sixth extinction, and other overwhelming threats to the Earth, this book argues that humans continue to live and so do the beings whose lives are entwined with ours, for whom we can acknowledge and work to improve their existence. The nine essays in this volume trace that acknowledgment and work through three sections centered on visual media, queer and feminist readings of empowerment and movements beyond the boundaries enacted by anthropocentric Western society. Drawing on theories such as new materialism, posthumanism, and ecofeminism, and with an international perspective from authors working at American, South Asian, and East Asian universities, Entangled and Empowered finds hope in the shadow of despair. It engages with work by Anna Lowenhaupt Tsing on entanglement, Donna Haraway on kin making and multispecies communities, and Karen Barad on intra-actions, among others, while also showing how critiques of these ideas can make the world both more promising and more endangered. This collection will be useful for scholars working in all subfields of environmental humanities, especially those intersecting with the theories described above, and as an archive of examples analyzing practical aspects of agency in diverse multispecies communities Scholars studying texts as well known as The Handmaid's Tale and as obscure as the codices of the Mopan Maya will find value in having both under one cover

Negotiating Heritage through Education and Archaeology Alicia Ebbitt McGill, 2021-08-17 Combining years of ethnographic research with British imperial archival sources this book reveals how cultural heritage has been negotiated by colonial independent state and community actors in Belize from the late nineteenth century to the present Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents Mery F. Diaz, Benjamin Shepard, 2019-09-24 In Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents social workers sociologists researchers and helping professionals share engaging and evocative stories of practice that aim to center the young client's story Drawing on work with a variety of disadvantaged populations in New York City and around the world they seek to raise awareness of the diversity of the individual experiences of youth They make use of a variety of narrative approaches to offer new perspectives on a range of critical health care mental health and social issues that shape the lives of children and adolescents The book considers the narratives we tell about the lives and experiences of children and adolescents and proposes counternarratives that challenge dominant ideas about childhood Contributors examine the environments and structures that shape the lives of children and youth from an ecological lens From their stories emerge questions about how those working with young clients might respond to a changing landscape How do we define and construct childhood How do poverty and inequality impact children's health and welfare How is childhood lived at the intersection of race class and gender How can practitioners engage children and adolescents through culturally responsive and democratic processes Offering new frameworks for reflecting on social work practice the essays in Narrating Practice with Children and Adolescents also serve as a vehicle for exploration of children's agency and voice

The Routledge Handbook of Waste Studies Zsuzsa Gille, Josh Lepawsky, 2021-12-27 The Routledge Handbook of Waste Studies offers a comprehensive survey of the new field of waste studies critically interrogating the cultural social economic and political systems within which waste is created managed and circulated While scholars have not settled on a definitive categorization of what waste studies is more and more researchers claim that there is a distinct cluster of inquiries concepts theories and key themes that constitute this field In this handbook the editors and contributors explore the research questions methods and case studies preoccupying academics working in this field in an attempt to develop a set of criteria by which to define and understand waste studies as an interdisciplinary field of study This handbook will be invaluable to those wishing to broaden their understanding of waste studies and to students and practitioners of geography sociology anthropology history environment and sustainability studies Journal of Ecological Anthropology, 2016 Research Reports in Belizean History and Anthropology, 2015 The World of the Ancient Maya John S. Henderson, 1981 Since it was first published in 1981 The World of the Ancient Maya has established itself as an extraordinarily accomplished comprehensive elegantly written and concise introduction to the rich Maya culture In this edition John S Henderson has thoroughly revised the text and added a wealth of new photographs and drawings Abstracts of the Annual Meeting American Anthropological Association, 2008 Maya Cultural Heritage Patricia A. McAnany, 2016-09-15 Situated at the intersection of cultural heritage and local community this book enlarges our understanding of the Indigenous peoples of southern Mexico and northern Central America who became detached from the ancient Maya through colonialism government actions and early twentieth century anthropological and archaeological research Through grass roots heritage programs local communities are reconnecting with a much valorized but distant past Maya Cultural Heritage explores how community programs conceived and implemented in a collaborative style are changing the relationship among archaeological practice the objects of archaeological study and contemporary ethnolinguistic Mayan communities Rather than simply describing Maya sites McAnany concentrates on the dialogue nurtured by these participatory heritage programs the new heritage scapes they foster and how the diverse Maya communities of today relate to those of the past Political Ecology in a Yucatec Maya Community Eugene Newton Anderson, 2005-10 For instance traditional subsistence agriculture is broadly sustainable at current population densities but hunting is not and modern mechanized agriculture has an uncertain future Bringing the voice of contemporary Maya to every page the authors offer an encyclopedic overview of the region history environment agriculture medicine social relations and economy Whether discussing the fine points of beekeeping or addressing the problem of deforestation they provide a remarkably detailed account that immerses readers in the landscape
