Extinction Bad Genes Or Bad Luck:

Extinction David M. Raup, 1991 Discusses the causes and mechanisms of extinction drawing on the fields of paleontology and statistics to chronicle the histories of extinct species Extinction Bad Genes Or Bad Luck David Raup, 1992-11-03 The science of extinction is a lively and moveable feast of scientific speculation and research Scientist author David Raup takes the subject of nature s disappearing act to task covering everything from the Ice Age Blitzkreig to the fate of the marshes on Martha s Vineyard the extinction of flying reptiles to mankind s impact on tropical reefs Graphs Wonders Of Science, The: A User Friendly Guide Nathan Aviezer, 2024-07-16 The Wonders of Science reveals that the physical world is a far more complex and amazing world than it appears to be so wondrous that it almost defies comprehension Brilliant scientists have devoted their lives to uncovering these secrets However everyone should be able to share the joy of learning about these wonders No detailed knowledge of science is required to understand these new discoveries which include quantum theory relativity theory string theory chaos theory black holes dark matter dark energy the multidimensional universe quarks and much more These many topics are here described in a clear and accessible presentation that can be enjoyed by everyone Even the greatest scientists sometimes make mistakes Included in the book are some of the blunders made by leading scientists including Nobel Prize winners Perilous Planet Earth Trevor Palmer, 2003-06-12 A readable account of the history of natural disasters throughout history Park Science , 1993 Objections Sustained Phillip E. Johnson, 1998 A collection of Phillip E Johnson s pithiest essays on the idolatry of Darwin scientists who popularize religious freedom American pragmatism Paul Feyerabend Winston Churchill postmodernism natural law and more A Random Walk in Theoretical Physics Bruce W. Roberts, 1995 Evolution and the Problem of Natural Evil Michael A. Corey, 2000-11-22 Is the evolutionary process intelligently designed If so why did the Creator choose such an evil infested means to create the biosphere What is the intrinsic nature of evil itself Is natural evil necessary Is evil compatible with the existence of God Will the world s evils ever be totally redeemed What place does humanity occupy in the cosmic scheme of things Evolution and the Problem of Natural Evil attempts to answer these and other timeless questions by proposing a bold new conceptual synthesis that aggressively marries the tenets of modern developmental psychology to the basic concepts of classical theism The end result of this novel approach is deeply encouraging insofar as it places the problem of evil as well as the general fate of human existence in a much larger and more optimistic context than has traditionally been imagined Minnesota Journal of Global Trade , 2000 Near-earth Objects John L. Remo, 1997 The primary focus of 47 papers from an April 1995 meeting is directed toward the need for gathering and interpreting scientific data to understand the Earth s past history evaluate current astronomical observations and outline future exploration missions to NEOs Sections on astronomy earth and planetary sciences astronautics detection and mitigation and UN issues can be thought of as a continuation of those contained within the foundation volume Hazards Due to Comets and Asteroids which summarizes most of the preceding work in NEOs and serves as a starting place for those interested in the study of NEOs and their possible interaction with the Earth No index Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Philosophical Transactions, 2002 Each issue of Transactions B is devoted to a specific area of the biological sciences including clinical science All papers are peer reviewed and edited to the highest standards Published on the 29th of each month Transactions B is essential reading for all biologists

The Diversity of Life Edward O. Wilson, 1992 Science John Michels (Journalist), 2005 A weekly record of scientific progress Conservation Biology in Australia T. R. New, 2006 An introductory textbook for conservation biology that explains the issues facing Australia's unique environments and biota and the measures needed to protect them Natural Disasters Patrick L. Abbott, 2002 This book focuses on how the normal processes of the Earth concentrate their energies and deal heavy blows to humans and their structures It is concerned with how the natural world operates and in so doing kills and maims humans and destroys their works Throughout the book certain themes are maintained energy sources underlying disasters plate tectonics and climate change Earth processes operating in rock water and atmosphere the significance of geologic time complexities of multiple variables operating simultaneously The text aims to explain important principles about the Earth and then develop further understanding through numerous case histories It includes recent happenings such as the Western United States wildfires and the Los Alamos prescribed burn both occurring in the year 2000 Conservation Legacy, Night Comes to the Cretaceous James Lawrence Powell, 1999 What killed the dinosaurs For more than a century this question has been one of the greatest unsolved mysteries in science But in 1980 Nobel Prize winning physicist Luis Alvarez and his son Walter proposed a radical answer 65 million years ago an asteroid or comet as big as Mt Everest slammed into the earth raising a dust cloud vast enough to cause mass extinction A revolutionary idea that challenged the ice age extinction theory the asteroid impact theory was scorned and derided by the science community But after years of bitter debate and intense research an astonishing discovery was made an immense impact crater in the Yucatan Peninsula that was identified as Ground Zero The Alvarazes had their proof A dramatic scientific detective story Night Comes to the Cretaceous is a brilliant example of science at work in the trenches complete with passionate struggles and occasional victories

Correction Lines Curt Meine, 2004-10-06 The last fifteen years have been a period of dramatic change both in the world at large and within the fields of ecology and conservation The end of the Cold War the dot com boom and bust the globalizing economy and the attacks of September 11 among other events and trends have reshaped our worldview and the political environment in which we find ourselves At the same time emerging knowledge needs and opportunities have led to a rapid evolution in our understanding of the scientific foundations and social context of conservation Correction Lines is a new collection of essays from one of our most thoughtful and eloquent writers on conservation putting these recent changes into perspective and exploring the questions they raise about the past present and future of the conservation movement The essays explore interrelated themes the relationship between biological and social dimensions the historic tension between utilitarian and preservationist approaches the integration of varied cultural perspectives the enduring legacy of Aldo Leopold the contrasts and continuities between conservation and environmentalism the importance of political reform and the need to retool conservation to address twentyfirst century realities Collectively the essays assert that we have reached a critical juncture in conservation a correction line of sorts Correction Lines argues that we need a more coherent and comprehensive account of the past if we are to understand our present circumstances and move forward under unprecedented conditions Meine brings together a deep sense of history with powerful language and compelling imagery yielding new insights into the origins and development of contemporary conservation Correction Lines will help us think more clearly about the forces that have changed and are changing conservation and inspire us to address current realities and future needs Pacific Conservation Biology ,1998 Life on Earth [2 volumes] Niles Eldredge,2002 An examination of nature s extraordinary biological diversity and the human activities that threaten it
